PROHIBITION FIGHT BREWS IN CONGRESS

WET-DRY BATTLE LINES BEING FORMED

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright 1929, by the Escanaba Press)

Washington, May 1.—The intensity of the wet and dry fight is growing. The applause of the house for the Washington policeman who shot a rum runner has provoked more discussion. The wets are not losing an opportunity to arouse public sentiment to their way of thinking, which is that the law is too widely disapproved to be effectively enforced.

Few wets will contend that there has been any decided change in the voting power of the two factions. It will be admitted that there is still a majority for the Volstead act and the Jones law. Any test which is aimed at repeal would show that conclusively. But the wets are not discouraged. They see in such incidents as the "I'm Alone" case, the shooting in Aurora, Illinois, of a mother by a deputy sheriff and recently in the speech extolling the policeman for killing the young driver of an automobile suspected of transporting liquor —a series of arguments which they hope will provoke resentment.

Public's Attitude Changing.

Two years ago the wets had no such momentum. Today they have organization and aggressive tactics. Two years ago the shooting of a bootlegger would not have been condemned even if the search warrant was technically insufficient or if the man fleeing arrest was not identified as a bootlegger. Even the unfortunate episode in which Senator Green of Vermont was struck by a stray bullet while a policeman was trying to arrest someone in a liquor raid failed to cause anything but a momentary sensation.

Such an occurrence today would fall on a much more inflammatory surface. That is one reason why prohibition officers have been warned recently to be careful about using firearms. The coast guard has had the same difficulty in bringing small craft to a stop and has fired on some innocent vessels.

Aiding the Criminal.

While the agitation by the wets has had the effect of making prohibition officers more careful, it also has given the criminal element greater opportunity to escape. The policeman who chased the young driver who would not stop did not know definitely that the automobile carried liquor but when a smoke screen was released he felt his suspicions were confirmed as the average passenger doesn't release smoke screens after the fashion of the gangster.

But while the drys applauded the policeman for doing his duty, the wets were quick to seize on the sentimental value of the incident. Death is never applauded even in the electrocution chamber when the murderer receives his punishment.

When, however, an issue was made of the incident and it was demanded that the words "applause" be expunged from the record the drys refused really because they did not wish by the new action to be regarded as having abandoned the view that the officer of the law did his duty.

Drys in Majority.

The drys are in the majority but the members of congress are controlled by a public opinion back home which is more or less affected by incidents of the type recently happening.

The battle now is for favorable publicity and the arousing of a sentiment that will demand a change in the whole prohibition status. President Hoover hinted as this tendency to glorify the criminal when he spoke in New York recently.

The president has been hoping that the law enforcement commission he is about to appoint will bring a different attitude toward the whole question. He is having difficulty persuading prominent men to accept appointment. They dislike to identify themselves with a controversy whose intensity is dividing political parties and communities as well as families. And the prohibition issue is becoming a dominant influence in a session of congress which was intended to be confined to farm relief and tariff revision.

Day in Washington

(By The Associated Press)

President Hoover dismissed from office U. S. District Attorney William A. DeGroot of New York.

May Day was described by Secretary Davis as a "day of rejoicing for American labor."

The senate defeated Senator Heflin's resolution to condemn an attack upon him at Brockton, Mass., by a vote of 70 to 14.

Representative Tilson, Republican leader, told the house that the tariff bill would be introduced Friday or Saturday.

Representative LaGuardia, New York, wet, charged the government with enforcing prohibition unequally in various sections.

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania denied that Secretary Mellon had signed a contract on behalf of the Aluminum Company of America, while in office.

DEBTS REPORT WORK GOES ON

Return of Dr. Schacht From Berlin Awaited With Interest

Paris, May 1—(AP)—The barometer of the second Dawes committee continued low today while delegates were busy drafting the text of their report, which probably will be an official announcement of their failure to solve the German reparations problem.

Unless the unexpected happens after the return from Berlin of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, failure will have been the result of more than eleven weeks of effort by the committee.

Members of the German delegation are working separately from the drafting committee in preparation of a minority report which they will have ready to present to the full committee if it is found expedient.

In this case, Owen D. Young, chairman of the committee, and J. P. Morgan, of the American delegation, probably either will draw up a short report of their own or have inserted a brief declaration in the report as prepared by the drafting committee.

Await Schacht Return.

The drafting committee today went over that part of the report dealing with the German budget. Comment on this subject, which is made with approval of the German delegation, dwells on the necessity for economy and for a rigorously balanced budget.

The experts in general are looking forward with great interest to Dr. Schacht's return from Berlin on the supposition that if there is any possibility of saving the conference from failure it will be through some new proposal he may bring with him.

ROBINSON AND WATSON CLASH ON FEE VIEWS

FLOOR LEADERS IN SPIRITED DEBATE

Washington, May 1—(AP)—Crowded senate galleries today enjoyed the unusual spectacle of a spirited debate between floor leaders of the two major political parties as Senator Watson, tthe Indiana Republican, and Senator Robinson, the Arkansas Democrat, discussed their past and present attitudes toward the equalization fee in farm relief legislation.

Recent verbal exchanges on the latest vehicle for dispute over agricultural relief—the export debenture plan—were overshadowed by the pungent but good-humored colloquy. On their feet for nearly two hours, the two leaders hurled questions and charges back and forth while the gallery throngs leaned forward to listen and occasionally laughed at some pointed remark.

After the debate had subsided somewhat, Robinson looked toward his opponent and asserted with a smile that he hoped "my distinguished friend will soon terminate his tirade and come to luncheon with me."

Set-To Occurs

The set-to occurred as Watson undertook to reply to a recent assertion by the Arkansas senator that Republican farm leaders had deserted the equalization fee for political expediency. Robinson, himself, the Indianan declared, once voted against the equalization fee after describing it as "tax" levied without the consent of the person against whom it was to be assessed.

Recalling that Watson was once a leading advocate of the fee, Senator Robinson asked "Why should the senator from Indiana go wrong when a senator from Arkansas goes right?"

Senator Watson explained that he was opposing the fee and the debenture plan now simply because the political campaign had decided the issue.

"I wasn't for Mr. Hoover's nomination," he declared. "I wanted it myself. I had the disposition but not the votes. But after Mr. Hoover accepted the farm plank in the Kansas City platform, after I had heard his discussion of the tariff, I came to the conclusion that he was a man for me to support.

"It Wasn't Paul"

"I did not know Herbert Hoover when I opposed him for the presidency as I do now."

Watson declared that when Robinson ultimately voted for the equalization fee he had explained the action by saying that

Midland County Savings Bank is Closed by State

Midland, Mich., May 1—(AP)—The Midland County Savings Bank, with total resources of $816,026, was closed today by the state banking commissioner with the statement that "funds of depositors are not available at this time." M. C. Taylor, chief bank examiner, was in charge of the examination of the books and said the bank was closed to conserve the assets for the protection of depositors.

The bank is the oldest but smallest in the city, having been established over 40 years, and is headed by Stewart B. Gordon.

Revolution Not Caused By Church Says Portes Gil

Mexico City, May 1 — (AP) — President Portes Gil in a public statement tonight said that he did not consider that the Roman Catholic church, as an institution, was responsible in any way for the military revolution that has just collapsed. He added that "some servants of the church" in Jalisco, Michoacan and Guanajuato, forgetting their Christian morals, had committed acts of banditry under the pretext of defending the doctrines of their church. "But contrasted with this attitude, are other worthy representatives of Catholicism who counsel respect for law and authority," he said.

"RED" MOBS GATHER AT AMERICAN EMBASSY, MEXICO CITY; CELEBRATIONS ARE WORLD-WIDE

(By The Associated Press.)

Eight dead, 78 seriously injured, 600 arrests in Berlin.
Several dead and "many" hurt in Kovno.
Men dispersed from American embassy, Mexico City.
Hungary's principal cities "armed camps."
More than 3,200 arrests in Paris.
Communism parading the Soviet armed forces in Moscow.

Above, concisely, are the outstanding events marking the celebration of May Day, 1929. Offsetting them, however, came reports from Brussels of quiet parades, more sparsely attended than any in 10 years, from rural France depicting outdoor oratory but no violence, and from southeastern Europe, South America and Central America, recording exceptional quiet.

The melody of the "internationale" was heard in almost every sizeable city of Europe yesterday when Socialists, Communists and workingmen's organizations generally observed May Day.

But in Moscow the tune dominated all other sounds as the military forces of the Soviet union

HOUSE AWAITS TARIFF BILL

Assembly Passes Time With Debate on Prohibition

Washington, May 1—(AP)—The senate worked on the farm relief bill today while the house devoted its time to a prohibition debate in the absence of any legislation ready for consideration.

After defeating the Heflin resolution to express senatorial condemnation of persons who recently threw missiles at the Alabama senator in Brockton, Mass., the senate went on with its farm relief debate.

Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, held the floor for two hours discussing their past and present attitudes on the equalization fee as a method of agricultural relief.

House Idle.

In the meantime, a decision to withhold further farm legislation from the house until after the passage of the tariff bill had left that body without any work to do. Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the majority leader, said his last information was that the tariff bill would be ready about the last of this week.

For an hour and a half the house listened to a discussion by Representative Tucker, Democrat, Virginia, of the constitution in its relation to the exclusion of aliens from the population count upon which a reapportionment of the seats in the house of representatives is based.

Then Representative LaGuardia, of New York, a Republican wet, led the way into a prohibition debate which kept oratorical fireworks crackling for half an hour after he finished. Almost a dozen members entered the discussion, which at times drew applause from the

MELLON MAY BE CALLED TO TESTIFY

COMMITTEE AT CROSS ROADS IN ITS INQUIRY

Washington, May 1—(AP)—The senate judiciary committee today reached a cross roads in its inquiry into the right of Secretary Mellon to hold office and a decision is impending whether to call on the treasury secretary to testify or to rest the case on an interpretation of the law relating to his office.

Some committee members believe the secretary would be questioned about his relations to the business world as a stockholder in various enterprises, while others contend such action would amount to a trial of Mr. Mellon for violation of the law and would be outside the jurisdiction of the committee.

The latter maintain that the committee has been directed only to state whether Mr. Mellon as a stockholder is serving in violation of an old statute forbidding the secretary of the treasury to be interested in carrying on trade or commerce.

It is contended by some, including Senator Borah, of Idaho, that the committee in examining into the business activities of Mr. Mellon is, in effect, trying him for violation of the law. If that course is to be pursued, they insist that Mr. Mellon should be heard at an open session.

Decision Today?

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, has raised the point that Mr. Mellon went to Canada in 1925 in the interests of the Aluminum Company of American, in which he is a stockholder. The Montanan is anxious for more details in that connection. He believes it is the duty of the committee to determine the facts before passing judgment on whether Mr. Mellon's business activities conflict with the law.

A decision is in prospect tomorrow on whether to open the committee hearings for an investigation or whether to rest the case on Mr. Mellon's statement that he is a stockholder.

Rescue Four Boys Marooned on Isle

Detroit, May 1—(AP)—All the thrills of shipwrecked and marooned sailors were afforded four Trenton high school youths, who were rescued from Tawas Island early today after nearly having drifted into Lake Erie in their disabled motorboat.

The boys were discovered by searching parties, who noticed a bonfire they had built on the island to indicate their whereabouts. They left Trenton last night in a motorboat and begun drifting helplessly down river when their engine failed. They finally managed to bring the boat to the shore of the island.

The boys were Hugh Sullivan, 16; Ralph Patnoe, 17; George Amiot, 16; and Seth Davis, Jr. The search was started by the father of Davis, who became alarmed when the boys failed to return after several hours.

New Method of Manufacturing One of Calcium Salts, Found By The Department of Agriculture

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

Columbus, O., May 1—(AP)—Discovery by the United States department of agriculture of a means to make one of the calcium salts, reducing the cost of manufacture from around $150 a pound to 50 cents, was disclosed at the American Chemical Society convention today.

Calcium salts are among the essential remedies in medicine and are used as ingredients of many industries. In some forms they are commonplace and cheap, but one of them, taken from gluconic acid, never has been available because of the great expense of making this acid.

The department now has found how to produce the acid cheaply and that there are surprising differences in some of the effects of its hitherto inaccessible salt, as compared with those in common use. The discoveries were made by Horace T. Herrick and Orville E. May, of the color and farm waste section of the bureau of chemistry and soils.

Is Important

The newly developed salt, Mr. Herrick said, is the only one which cannot cause abscess when injected into the veins. Injection of calcium salts is an important and not unusual medical remedy, but with those now available caution is necessary to keep the salt from contact with bodily tissues, where they induce abscesses. Calcium salts are used to stop hemorrhages of some kinds, and calcium is one of the principal factors that go to make up healthy bones.

Though some of the other salts have truly horrible tastes, this one has none at all, and Mr. Herrick said it is likely to be useful for taking through the mouth. It is a white powder.

Mr. Herrick said it is possible, though not yet verified, that the salt may be effective when given to chickens to prevent thin egg shells. No present form of the

PROBE ACTIONS OF HOLSAPLE

Claim He Worked for Parole of Dry Law Violator

Lansing, Mich., May 1—(AP)—A resolution demanding an accounting of the activities of the Rev. R. N. Holsaple, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League, in connection with an alleged effort to obtain a parole for Donald Perry, Traverse City liquor law violator, was adopted by the house of representatives today.

The measure, sponsored by Representative Vincent Dacey, of Detroit, instructed Arthur D. Wood, pardon and parole commissioner, to submit a detailed report. Perry was said to be Holsaple's brother-in-law.

Mr. Holsaple, ardent advocate and lobbyist for legislation designed to provide life imprisonment for violators of the prohibition law, appeared before commissioner Wood November 7, 1927, and appealed for the early release of Donald A. Perry, his brother-in-law.

"The said Perry was three times convicted of felonies under the laws of this state," the house resolution stated. "It is contrary to public conscience and the interests of even distributive justice for Holsaple to advocate life for Mrs. Etta Mae Miller and liberty for Perry, and to urge the members of this house to close forever prison gates behind the forlorn figure of an illiterate and impoverished mother and open them wide to his own relatives."

Holsaple visited Commissioner Wood's office on the date mentioned in company with Perry's wife. He insisted, afterward, that he simply introduced Mrs. Perry to the commissioner. Perry served out his term and was given no special clemency.

Solving of Chicago Gang Massacre is Believed Imminent

Chicago, May 2 (Thursday—(AP) Possibility that an important development had arisen in the St. Valentine's Day gang massacre investigation was seen early today when Deputy Police Commissioner John Stege sent a squad car to Coroner Bundesen's home to take him to the detective bureau. Stege refused to say what caused the move.

Frank Thompson, the "Armorer" who is believed to have supplied the guns used in the seven murders, had been under questioning for many hours, and it was presumed he may make important revelations.

Bundesen reached detectiye headquarters shortly after midnight and immediately was closeted with the deputy commissioner. It was through the efforts of the coroner's jury that evidence linking Thompson with the death guns was obtained.

Peters' body was found in his apartment today, the novel on the desk before him and a revolver nearby. He is thought to have shot himself in the belief that he was the prototype of "Drunken Peters."

He came here a few years ago from California and was living apart from his wife.

TURNER BILL FATE HINGED ON PASSAGE

VOTE, 73 TO 21; MILL TAX BILL IN TANGLE

By GILBERT T. SHILSON
(Associated Press Staff Correspondent)

Lansing, Mich., May 1—(AP)—With only a tremor of opposition, the legislature today completed another phase of its finance program. With the clatter of oratory and argument which has accompanied other major measures to defeat or victory missing, the house passed the Lennon cigaret tax bill. The vote was 73 to 21. It now goes to the governor for approval.

Adoption of the measure indicated a disposition by the legislature to extend a helping hand to overtaxed school districts. The reason above all others for its easy passage was that upon its success depends the fate of the Turner bill apropriating $2,000,000 a year for apportionment to the poorer school districts. Rural members lined up with those from Wayne county and other industrial centers to push the cigaret levy across. Its estimated revenue of from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 is expected to reimburse the general fund for money diverted to school districts and remove the necessity for an increased property tax. It provides a tax of one cent on every 10 cigarets.

Bill Threatened

No sooner had the bill been approved than threats were heard that efforts will be made to prevent it from becoming effective. There was a persistent report that tobacco interests plan to attack the proposed law in the courts and perhaps seek its repeal by popular referendum.

The measure came up on the floor of the house with lines clearly defined and passage certain. Representative Robert D. Wardell, of Detroit, objected momentarily because it provided that receipts go into the general fund.

"This would allow the administration to spend the money as it sees fit," he said.

To Sign Turner Bill?

Representative Charles Reed, of Clio, answered by saying he was advised on good authority that if the cigaret tax bill were passed, Gov. Green would sign the Turner bill, which is on the executive desk awaiting approval. The Turner bill provides that $2,000,000 a year be paid from the general fund to the school districts. The cigaret law would return approximately this amount to the general fund, Reed explained.

Further debate was cut off when Representative Charles Culver, satisfied that no argument was needed to hold the overwhelming majority, moved the previous question. The house approved and the roll was called.

Adoption of the measure was in part an administration victory. The cigaret tax bill was drawn by the attorney general at the request of the governor. The lone fly in the administration ointment was the possibility that the tax may not produce sufficient funds to meet school district demands, or that it may be held up by litigation.

Easily Passed

The ease with which the Lennon bill sailed to passage was in sharp contrast to the trouble besetting the senate finance committee relative to the one remaining important finance issue. A meeting resulted in disagreement as to the terms of the Hartman mill tax bill. Members of the committee were far apart on almost every provision. There were objections to the eight-tenths mill rate, which would produce an average of more than $7,000,000 a year to the four-year program and to the proposed size and scope of the building fund.

Another meeting was set for tomorrow. Unless agreement is reached soon, some members of the committee indicated they would wash their hands of the argument and let the bill die. Such action would necessitate a special session of the legislature.

Two proposed special taxes were disposed of by the senate taxation committee. The Snow income tax measure and the Hartman-Ming malt tax bill, both of which were passed by the house, were shelved in senate pigeon holes from which they probably never will emerge.

PATHFINDERS TO COPPER COUNTRY

Remain Over Night at Sault; Find Fields in Good Condition

The pathfinding party consisting of C. H. Wescoat, Walter Arntzen, Fred Marenger, Escanaba, and F. L. Betts, Menominee, completed the second lap of their air tour yesterday. The party left Manistique at 11:45 a. m. and arrived at Blaney twenty minutes later. They reported that the Blaney field was in excellent condition, ready to accommodate the planes which will participate in the Upper Peninsula air tour in July. The planes, The Swallow piloted by Walter Arntzen and The Waco piloted by Fred Marenger, left Blaney at 2:15 p. m. and arrived at St. Ignace at 3 o'clock. The party remained an hour and a half at St. Ignace inspecting the field and making plans for the July air tour. The flyers were especially enthusiastic about the condition of the St. Ignace field. They reported that work on the field at that city is being done at the present time with the work almost completed. The St. Ignace field is well marked, they reported.

At 5:25 the party arrived at Sault Ste. Marie just fifty-five minutes after they had taken off at St. Ignace. Because of the heavy snowfall in the border line city, the field was soggy although in good condition. No difficulties were encountered on the trips yesterday.

F. L. Betts flying in the Swallow piloted by Arntzen will continue the tour, making Newberry, Munising, Marquette, L'Anse, Houghton, Hancock and Calumet, today. They will return to Houghton for the night.

The Waco piloted by Marenger with Wescoat as a passenger will remain at the Sault today, leaving there to return to Escanaba either tonight or tomorrow morning.

The flyers report that enthusiastic receptions were accorded them in each of the cities where they stopped. Interest in the upper peninsula air tour of July 10 15 seems to be at a high pitch. That the people of northern Michigan are becoming air-minded is very evident, the flyers report.

Man Confesses To Killing of Friend After Row

Detroit, May 1—(AP)—A confession that he killed his friend, Charles Cassidy, 35, after an argument over a rent debt was made to Detroit police tonight by James Greathouse, 18, of Morgantown, W. Va.

Greathouse surrendered to police today, but at first related a tale that he was kidnaped and brought here a prisoner by another man who killed Cassidy. Cassidy was slain April 27 near Morgantown.

Greathouse said he took $10 from Cassidy's pockets and came here. He surrendered to police and offered the fictitious story because he knew he was wanted by Morgantown police, he said, and he hoped by surrender to divert suspicion from himself.

In his confession Greathouse said Cassidy owed room rent in Morgantown and his landlady requested him to attempt to collect the debt. He said he was riding with Cassidy in the country when they started arguing over the rent. Cassidy, he said, became infuriated and cursed him.

Fearing for his safety, Greathouse said he pulled a gun from his pocket and shot Cassidy five times.

'PLANE PHONES NOW A REALITY

Allows Aviators to Talk With Anyone Having Regular Instrument

Hadley Field, N. J., May 1—(AP)—The airmen of America were presented today with the means of speaking from cloudy peaks with their bosses, their sweethearts, or anyone else of the earthbound millions who have access to a regular telephone instrument.

The Western Electric company demonstrated in a series of tests for the press an invention linking planes on the wing to the land lines of the commercial telephone system.

The first call was put through by an Associated Press reporter who went aloft in the flying telephone booth at 11 a. m. and stayed up until noon. Wearing a regular telephone headset and speaking into a microphone held in his hand, he gave the telephone number of the Associated Press office in New York to the Bell telephone experimental radio station at Whippany, N. J., by wireless telephone.

A moment later he heard the A. P. switchboard operator respond and was switched to the city desk, which in turn handed the call over to a rewrite man who took the report of the demonstration from the flying reporter.

Though the reporter in the plane was sitting only four feet from the roaring engine, from which he was separated only by a thin plane of glass, he could hear the people in the New York office as clearly as an ordinary phone conversation and his words were plainly audible in New York.

The takeoff was made in a driving rain but the telephone plane rode above the storm and the demonstration was made while 2,000 feet over Plainfield, N. J., and while the plane was making about 100 miles an hour.

Radio telephony between planes and radio sets aground have been operated successfully for some time, but never before perfection of the present invention has it been possible to link planes to the regular commercial telephone system.

ROBINSON AND WATSON CLASH ON FEE VIEWS

"congress is justified in taking the economic adventure embodied in the measure," although the Arkansan previously had asserted it was "unconstitutional and unworkable."

The conversion of Paul on the way to Damascus was not more astounding than that of the Senator from Arkansas," Watson said.

"It wasn't Paul, it was Saul," Robinson replied. "I'd rather be Paul after conversion than Saul before."

"The senator ought to know because he was both," Watson said, while the galleries laughed and the chair rapped sharply for order.

Helen Wills Will Meet Queen Mary

London, May 1—(AP)—Helen Wills, America's tennis queen, will be presented at court to Queen Mary on May 9 by Mrs. Ray Atherton, wife of the American charge d' affaires. As Miss Maude Hunnewell, Mrs. Atherton was a widely known golfer, competing in the British ladies' championship and other big tournaments.

Mrs. Atherton's position in the court ceremonies is due to the absence of Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, whose husband is to be the new ambassador from the United States. Besides Miss Wills seven other American women will be presented at the first court of the season at Buckingham palace, and at the second court on May 19 eight additional American women will be introduced.

MAN "FRIENDLY" TO SLAIN WIFE

Student Identifies Self as "College Boy" in Peacox Slaying

New York, May 1— (AP) —The New York American tomorrow will say Eugene Bussey, Johns Hopkins University student, has identified himself as the "college boy" whose attentions to the young bride of Earle P. Peacox has come to the attention of the police investigating her murder. Peacox has confessed attempting to burn the body of his wife after strangling her.

Bussey formerly was Peacox's friend in the Yonkers, N. Y., high school they both attended, and joined him in his devotion to the science of radio. The American, however, quotes Bussey as declaring he had "done Earle Peacox a great moral wrong and now am willing to help all I can."

The Baltimore student describes his romance with Mrs. Peacox, which progressed to his recept of frequent letters couched in intimate terms. One of his letters, in reply, was found by Peacox, Bussey said, and that broke up their marriage.

"Earle called me up and was pretty angry," the American will quote Bussey as saying. "He told me I was treating him terribly and said if he was anywhere near me he would beat the life out of me.

"Before he got through the conversation he was crying and hung up, apparently not blaming me so much as his wife."

OFFICER FACES MURDER CHARGE

Detroit Patrolman Held Carried Weapon Without Permit

London, Ont., May 1—(AP)—Dilworth McClellan, a Detroit patrolman on furlough, was held here tonight on charges of carrying a weapon without a permit and facing a possible charge of murder for killing a man who, with two companions, attempted to hold him up on the provincial highway near here this afternoon, McClellan said.

McClellan wounded one of the men and the third escaped in an automobile recognized as having been stolen in Windsor early Wednesday.

A coroner's jury was to decide tomorrow whether McClellan would be charged with murder.

The slain man was Robert Schacht, 20, a former taxi driver of Ford City, Ont. His wounded companion, who is in a London hospital with a bullet in his leg, gave his name as Le De Roche, 19, also a former taxi driver of Ford City.

People Unaware Of Virtual End Of Mex Revolt

Mexico City, May 1—(AP)—Today's labor holiday and the fact that no newspapers were published kept the Mexican public in ignorance tonight of the virtual termination of the revolution begun some weeks ago. Sonora, which was the last stronghold of the rebels, came virtually into complete possession of the federal forces last night.

Although 24 hours had elapsed since the news reached the presidency, the population was not aware of the fall of Nogales and Augua Prieta, the precipitate flight of rebel leaders and the disintegration of the remaining rebel armies.

Fresh tidings were lacking even in official quarters for President Portes Gil spent a quiet day at home and his offices were closed as tight as any business house. It was the first complete day of rest that the president and his immediate assistants had experienced in nearly two months.

converged on the Kremlin with bands blaring, airplanes roaring overhead and guns booming. Foreign military attaches were, for the first time, given opportunity to review the assembling of the armed forces of Russia. In addition to the regular infantry, cavalry and artillery, they saw contingents of women soldiers clad in shiny leather uniforms and carrying the latest in military equipment as, with martial tread, they entered the great square.

Clashes Numerous

Clashes were numerous in some of the other countries but no serious outbreaks occurred. Reports of a revolutionary plot in Barceloni, Spain, were denied.

In Berlin one demonstrator was killed and four others and a policeman wounded. There was some shooting, lot of missel-throwing and use of fire hose in the German capital. In other German cities like Hamburg and Munich there were large parades but no disorders.

Austria, and especially Vienna, which is under the control of social Democrats, turned the day into a picnic, with vendors of hot dogs and cold beer doing a large business.

There was a fight in Antwerp between adherents of Leon Trotzky and Joseph Stalin, Communist rivals. In other Belgian cities the "Reds" contented themselves with passing resolutions.

Mob Dispersed

Paris police used preventive measures to such an extent that 3,287 persons were taken into temporary custody here. All parades were quickly stopped. Most of the French factory workers remained away from their places of employment.

Rain caused the postponement until Sunday of the Swedish demonstrations. There were peaceful parades in Denmark.

In Japan 15,000 paraded through rain at Tokyo and 10,000 marched at Asaka.

No meetings of any sort were allowed in Turkey or in Spain.

SENATORS JUST "UPSIDE DOWN"

Johnson Expects His Club to Recover From Early Season Slump

BY BRIAN BELL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, May 1—(AP)—Disappointed but not discouraged at the early failure of his Senators to live up to their glowing promise of the spring, Walter Johnson today hazarded a guess that Washington soon will move out of the American League cellar.

"We are upside down," said the great pitcher, who has been rudely initiated into the lodge of major league managers by seeing his club "freeze up" with the opening of the championship season.

"We are not only turned all around in the league standing but in our whole condition.

Hopeful

"But I am hopeful, for we are really a good ball club and we soon will get going. Of that I am sure. Of course I know the answer to that one about games won in April counting as much as those in September. Maybe they count more, but if you can't win 'em early then you'll have to win 'em late.

"You're only kidding yourself when you look for alibis, but I can say without fear of being misunderstood that our ball club has been hard hit by this weather we have had so far, and are still having," as he glanced through the hotel lobby to a steady drizzle of rain drops on the street.

Southerners on Team

"Of course all the clubs in the east have had the same weather break we have had, but it seems to me we have suffered more than any of them. Our club is pretty well filled with southerners, either men who live in the south or players who came from the southern leagues. They went along at a fast clip until the cold weather struck us and it looks as though they can't get thawed out now.

"Although we lost yesterday—and it was a tough game to lose, too—even that defeat was encouraging. It was the first day we have run our hits into double figures and the first time we have scored more than five runs in a game. Yesterday we got five runs in one inning. Maybe that's a start.

"I hate to break up the smooth combination we worked out in the south but something had to be done to avoid wasting hits, so I shook up the batting order yesterday and got some results for that game, anyway, even though we lost it."

The Big Train is still the idol of fans far and wide. He was asked just how he felt about the job of managing a major league baseball club after two weeks' trial under fire—and a brisk cannonading at that.

"I have a very decided feeling of responsibility," he said. "The letters from people all over wishing me success get under my skin. I feel just like I did when I went in against the Giants to pitch my first world series game after I had waited so long for the chance.

"There's one other thing I am doing as a manager that I didn't do when I was just a pitcher. I see more. Now yesterday we pitched bad baseball to a couple of Yankee batters. I might not have paid much attention to that in the old days but you bet I saw it yesterday. But that's a game yesterday—there'll be others."

Representative Watson Honored By Colleagues

Lansing, Mich., May 1— (AP) — Representative George C. Watson, of Capac, chairman of the judiciary committee, was signally honored by the house of representatives today. A resolution commending Watson for his outstanding service was adopted. The legislature rarely has lauded its own members.

The measure was introduced by Representative Walter C. Peters, of Monroe, and the house adopted it by a standing vote. Fellow members have started a boom for Watson for attorney general because of his legislative services.

All of the house committees were idle, but on the senate side the judicial committee listened to a defense of Secretary Mellon by Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, during its consideration of the right of the treasury official to hold his seat in the cabinet.

The house of representatives would be reduced in 1943 to 240 members under a reapportionment bill introduced by Representative Crail, Republican, California, which would provide that the 240 members be apportioned on the basis of the 1924 census, each state to have at least one representative and the remainder to be apportioned on a population basis by states.

President Hoover would be requested to invite the people of the nation to observe on October 11, 1929, the 150th anniversary of the death of General Pulaski, Revolutionary war hero, under a resolution by Representative Ludlow, Democrat, Indiana.

calcium salts can be given to chickens directly but are obtained by feeding them ground rock or broken oyster shells and similar substances.

The cheap method of making the acid was stumbled upon while the chemists were searching for a new way to produce tartaric acid. They were looking for this acid in molds, which are nothing more than the common films that form on the surface of spoiled foods. They examined 150 different molds without finding tartaric acid, but in number 150 unexpectedly obtained the gluconic acid.

Mr. Herrick predicted that the method whereby this acid is made is the one whereby man's chemicals will be produced in the future. The varieties of molds appear to be unlimited. They grow with amazing rapidity. They produce many different chemical substances and can be cultivated so as to give large yields. Mr. Herrick said that by putting some of these molds to work chemical production may be obtained that will equal the work now done by "tons of machinery and hundreds of men."

RAY MILLER GETS VERDICT

Decision Over Petrolle Booed by Detroit Fight Fans

BY CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Detroit, May 1—(AP)—Ray Miller, Chicago left hook artist, was awarded an unpopular and perhaps undeserved decision over Billy Petrolle, the Fargo, N. D., Express, at the conclusion of their lightweight championship elimination contest at the Olympia arena tonight.

When Elmer "Slim" McClelland, the referee, raised Miller's right hand at the finish of the ten rounds, the crowd of 14,000, startled and amazed, cut loose with booes and hisses of disapproval. In the next instant the customers in the arena and gallery sections flooded the ring with newspapers and programs. Miller was loudly hissed, along with Referee McClelland, as they left the ring.

Petrolle, battle-scarred veteran of the lightweight ranks, won six, perhaps seven, of the ten rounds, in the judgment of unbiased observers at the ringside.

Petrolle Forced Fight.

Petrolle forced the issue from the start, piling into Miller, and he continually kept on the offensive except in the fifth round. In this session Miller exploded his heaviest charge, winning the honors easily. He walloped Petrolle with his left hooks and had him in retreat, but Petrolle came back in the sixth, winning by himself with Miller unable to land an effective punch.

Miller, in desperation, came out of his corner in the eighth and knocked Petrolle to his knees with a left hook to the chin. The Fargo Express, however, jumped up and was fighting back without taking a count.

Petrolle, by keeping in close and shooting lefts to the head and body, caused Miller to miss with his vaunted left hooks. Once, in the third round, Miller swung a left hook, missed, and fell sprawling through the ropes.

Both Under Limit.

Both weighed under the light-weight limit at 3 p. m., with Miller scaling 132 1-4 and Petrolle 133 1-4.

Charley Retzlaff, Duluth, Minn., heavyweight just graduated from the amateur ranks, looked impressive in scoring a technical knockout over Tiny Groves, Detroit, in two rounds. He floored Groves for three nine counts. Retzlaff weighed 194½; Groves, 188.

Formation of New Athletic Ass'n Rumored; Denied

Columbus, O., May 1—(AP)—The University of Detroit, Butler college, Washington and Jefferson university, Ohio Wesleyan, Cincinnati, and Wittenberg, have been linked in rumors of a new athletic conference to be formed soon in these institutions.

If plans go through, the six schools probably will be meeting each other in regular contests in all sorts in 1929.

Formation of such a conference would necessitate abandoning the Buckeye intercollegiate athletics association, through which Wesleyan, Wittenberg and Cincinnati have been associated with Ohio university, Denison, and Miami for the last four years.

Ohio Wesleyan officials today denied rumors regarding the conference. George Gauthier, director of athletics at Ohio Wesleyan, expressed surprise, saying that Wesleyan's football relations with the University of Detroit had not been entirely satisfactory to him in the past.

CITY COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

Objections to Proposed Zoning Ordinance to Be Heard

The Escanaba city council will hold its regular meeting tonight to hear the objections to the proposed zoning ordinance that may be offered by local citizens. This is the first hearing on the proposed law, and is expected to draw a large gathering of persons interested in its enactment.

Special committees from the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and the Woman's club will attend.

By zoning, millions of waste from the scrapping of buildings in "blighted districts" may be eliminated. A blighted district is a district, originally developed for residence, business, or industry, in the future of which people have lost confidence.

The causes of such blight are manifold. The most familiar case is that of a residential district into which there have begun to creep various uses threatening rapid destruction of its value for residences—such new uses as sporadic stores, or factories, or junk yards. It is not that a few such inappropriate uses really spoil the district, but that people having lost confidence, start a panic like a "run on the bank."

Hundreds of them hurry up to "unload" their properties at a sacrifice for any kind of use, no matter how objectionable to their neighbors—and the blight is on. Dwellings worth in the aggregate millions of dollars for the purposes for many years to come, with a moderate investment in alterations and improvements, are thus annually abandoned to purposes for which they are not fit, or are left to stand practically idle.

U. P. Can Grow Best Potatoes, Kuhn Declares

"The recent organization of the Upper Peninsula Potato association is going to be of real benefit to this district," said Bernard Kuhn, extension specialist of Michigan State college.

"I predict that within a few years many upper peninsula farmers will be growing potatoes that will command a premium in the country's biggest wholesale center," continued Mr. Kuhn. "We have every advantage of soil, climate and location. A much larger part of our yearly potato crop is going to be moved outside for seed purposes if we will only measure up to our possibilities. From now on, the upper peninsula is bound to come to the front as a high-grade potato growing country."

Woman's Club Hears Two - Piano Recital; Aids Memorial Road

Mrs. W. H. Summers and Mrs. F. M. Fernstrom gave a delightful program of two-piano numbers at the open meeting of the Escanaba Woman's club held in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. The recital program included selections from Mozart, Chopin, Mendelssohn, Schubert and Arensky. All were beautifully interpreted by the artists.

The club, in a short business meeting, voted to contribute five trees to the memorial highway west of the city which is being planted by Cloverland Post, American Legion.

The club's delegates to the upper peninsula convention at Negaunee, May 8-9, were announced as Mrs. W. P. Schuldes and Mrs. L. K. Edwards. Mrs. L. P. Treiber, president, also will attend.

Plans for a luncheon to be held in honor of the visit, soon, of the president of the state federation, were made. The affair will be at the Peterson Tea Room.

REAL PIONEERING.

SOMETHING of the spirit which prompted Daniel Boone to push westward into the "bad lands" of Kentucky and Davey Crockett to cast his fortunes with the freedom-hunting people of "The Republic of Texas" was exemplified in Escanaba Tuesday by the path-finders for the forthcoming air tour of the Upper Peninsula.

Flying through rain, snow and sleet, with clouds so low that the planes barely cleared the tree-tops at many points along the route to Manistique, the flyers pushed ahead. In the official pathfinder, piloted by Wallie Arntzen, was F. L. Betts, president of the Upper Peninsula Airways commission. Flying as an escort, Fred Marenger, pilot, and C. H. Westcoat of U. P. Airways, Inc., also made the trip.

All were drenched to the skin and shivering with cold when they reached Manistique. But they completed the first lap of the journey without a mishap. Yesterday Arntzen and Betts planned to continue their path-finding tour to Blaney and Sault Ste. Marie.

These men have demonstrated that flyers no longer are forced to alter their plans, hourly, because of the whims of the weather. If a scheduled flight could be carried out in open planes under conditions encountered Tuesday, planes can take the air almost any time and under almost any conditions in the Upper Peninsula.

The courage and perseverence of these air pioneers has written a new chapter in aviation progress in the Upper Peninsula.

America is a country where a young man takes a course in pharmacy in order to be able to sell gooseliver sandwiches.

ZONING PAYS.

THE ESCANABA city council will listen, tonight, to objections to the proposed zoning ordinance. There are rumors that there will be a battle over some of the restrictions which the measure proposes.

Writing a zoning ordinance has been, by no means, a soft job. Similiar ordinances in operation in scores of cities have been consulted. The opinions of some of the best city planners and zoning experts in the country has been sought. The ordinance, as it stands today, is not the work of one man, or a few men, but of a large number of men who know their business.

Surely there can be no objections to the zoning principle. The proposed ordinance, as a whole merely says: "You shan't do anything to your property that will damage the property of others near you." That is fair and it is sensible.

No ordinance possible could be drafted that would not, in some particulars, meet with objections from individuals, who intend to do, in the near future, some of the things the ordinance proposes to prohibit. These points are the points which must be threshed out tonight. It is entirely possible that the ordinance can be altered to prevent the working of hardships on some of these individuals. On the other hand, it may be that strict adherence to the principle of "the greatest good to the greatest number" will be advisable on the part of the council.

These are matters which the advocates of zoning are perfectly willing to leave in the hands of the city fathers. We believe that their decisions will be reached from the board view to Escanaba's future, rather than the narrow favoritism of the individual.

Unfortunately, it has been difficult to remove from many minds the idea that zoning is a fad, or a "frill" unnecessary in a city of this size; or that it is something which is needed only in communities which are growing very rapidly.

An examination of the ordinance, however, will convince anyone that these ideas are far from accurate. Even if Escanaba never gains in population zoning restrictions would be desirable for the time never will come when buildings will not be rebuilt, repaired or converted to other uses.

It happens, too, that no one can tell when the rapid growth of a city will begin. We have in mind, particularly, an Illinois city—Decatur—which in 20 years has grown from about 25,000 to a population now estimated at 60,000. Most of this growth has come since the world war. Yet the city has never experienced an acute housing shortage, nor is there a single section which carries the earmarks of "mushrooming." The answer is that Decatur was one of the first cities in the country to adopt a city plan, and that its zoning code has been a constant guide and chart along which building has moved, logically and without confusion.

The most attractive residential sections of Decatur are sections which, a dozen years ago were cow pastures and idle brushy hills along the Sangamon river. Residences in these new sections are of similar height and size, and conform strictly to building lines, height and area. Shopping centers planned in advance have kept business houses out of residential blocks. Zoning here has been worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to property owners. And while it was protecting the investments of the new sections, it has also protected the values of the older ones by preventing new industries and business establishments from encroachments.

Zoning pays. It is just as necessary to a city as blueprints are to the building-trades mechanic. If the present ordinance can be improved by adopting some of the suggestions made at the hearing tonight, the improvements should be made.

But the ordinance should be passed without further unnecessary delay.

Florida, fighting a fruit pest, decided to spray automobiles with insect powder. An awful blow to the few remaining Model T's.

BASEBALL IN THE PENINSULA

THE OUTLOOK for semi-pro baseball in the Upper Peninsula is by no means hopeful this year. Only three cities definitely have decided to take berths in the Upper Peninsula baseball association, the organization which a few years ago represented a ten-team circuit. Efforts are being made to find a fourth city which will be necessary if the league continues. Fate of the circuit will be decided at Crystal Falls next Sunday.

Iron Mountain, Crystal Falls and Ishpeming are the cities declared to be ready to join if a fourth city can be induced to come in. Munising, Marquette and the Copper Country are said to be definitely out of it. There has been absolutely no display of interest from Escanaba, Manistique, Gladstone or Menominee. It appears that semi-pro baseball is pretty much of a dead issue in this region.

The situation in the peninsula is not unusual. Small town baseball, in most parts of the country, has either passed out of the scene or has given way to strictly amateur baseball, played by boys and men who are in the game because they like to play it whether or not it is accompanied by paychecks. In spots where it has survived, it has come through as a sport rather than a business.

High-pressure professionalism in communities which could not afford to pay the prices demanded for it, has cut its own throat.

When Senator Bookhart appeared at the capitol the other day with a black eye he told his colleagues he slipped while fishing, and struck his head against a rock. Personally, we prefer the one about walking home in the dark and catching it on the limb of a tree.

CHAPTER III

That night, arriving home late, Mildred found Connie reading a magazine in bed. This she threw aside in gleeful anticipation of hearing something interesting.

She sat up, with her arms curled around her knees, looking oddly sophisticated. Connie was going through the black lingerie period, much to the disapproval of her mother. Usually Mildred had something to say about it, to, but just now she was in no mood to notice the black voile pajamas.

Connie puckered up her lips and hummed softly. Mildred always put her hat on a peg and her bag in a drawer. Connie scented trouble.

Mildred looked at her then.

"Go to sleep," she said crossly.

"Aw, come on, Sis, tell me all about it. But I'm awfully disappointed. Honestly I am. I thought he was a real person. Someone you could like."

'I'm not looking for anyone to like."

"Horse feathers! You're normal, aren't you?"

"Your young ideas give me a pain," Mildred snapped, and disappeared into the clothes closet to get her night dress. Connie sighed and turned out the light by the bed.

A few minutes later Mildred crept in beside her, moist from hasty ablution and misty-eyed with unshed tears. Connie put a firm warm arm about her and pressed her face close to Mildred's, but she said nothing more.

* * *

"It's not that I care," Mildred told herself; "but suppose I did?"

She meant suppose she cared for Stephen. She thought her feeling of being ill-used was caused by Pamela's high-handed treatment of her and her resentment of it. She had no idea that Stephen had made a deep impression upon her; that she minded having him grabbed up by Pamela.

"I'd quit in a minute if it weren't for mom and Connie," she stormed silently.

It wasn't fair that one girl should have everything in the world and another have to struggle along within sight but not within reach of all that the other had.

"I'm sick of it," Mildred rebelled, but she knew she would go on tolerating Pamela's abuses for the sake of her position.

The next morning she was unusually silent and hardly touched her breakfast. Mrs. Lawrence was too busy to notice. Somehow Connie's belongings invariably got scattered all over the flat and she needed a searching party to help her off to school on time.

Mildred did not expect Stephen to show up at the hotel, at least not with any work for her to do, but just before noon he surprised her by appearing at her desk.

He looked precisely what Pamela had said. All that a girl could wish for. His dusty-tan tweed and plain brown tie with striped shirt were only a small part of his perfection.

"Good morning," he said cheerily, and placed a nosegay of violets on her desk.

Mildred was a trifle nonplussed but it did not show in her manner when she got out her notebook and prepared to take his dictation.

"Don't bother about that," he said; "I'll dictate slowly. Take it right down on the typewritter. Here're some Mettle letterheads."

True to his word he dictated slowly and anyone could have seen that his mind was on the girl more than on his work. They'd done just two letters when Mildred was required to go up to a suite on the tenth floor.

Stephen glanced at his watch. "Sorry, but I can't wait until you come back," he said. "I've a luncheon date at one-thirty and I've got to run over to the office first."

When Mildred saw him again he was making his way with Pamela to the dining room. And Pamela was wearing orchids. Mildred put her hand to the violets she had pinned on her dress and the thought that flashed through her mind was not complimentary to herself.

As a matter of fact Pamela had bought the orchids herself. She wanted to look like a million dollars to Stephen.

Stephen's admiring glance assured her that she had not missed the mark, but for all his appreciation of her stunning appearance he tried to bring the conversation around to motor cars, the one he sold in particular.

But he got nowhere along that line. Pamela wanted to know all about him and before lunch was over she had lured him into promising to go with her that night to the Westchester Country Club, of which she remained a member despite the fact that several of the older women wanted her dropped.

They drove to the club in Pamela's car. Stephen noticed that the fenders were well used up but otherwise it seemed to be in good condition. Still, he hoped to sell her a new one. It was his guess that Pamela would not drive any car for a year.

When they arrived at the club a dance was in progress and Pamela was not allowed more than a couple of dances with Stephen before he was forced to yield to others.

Stephen sauntered off to a smoking room and found a small knot of men in interesting conversation with a racing driver who was just back from winning cups in South America.

South America and racing cars were two things Stephen liked to hear about. He hoped some day to be the South American representative for a good car, and racing drivers were his boyhood idols. He hadn't quite grown up in respect to hero worshiping.

For at least five dances he forgot all about Pamela. Remembering, he started out to find her but fate, in the person of a pretty red-haired girl way-laid him. She demanded a dance. Stephen recalled having met her in a group when he arrived.

He didn't want to be rude. But they hadn't danced long before he found himself looking into Pamela's darkened countenance as she swept past him with a young man whose whispered words were falling on unheeding ears.

'I'm in for it," Stephen thought.

And so he was. At the end of the dance he sought out Pamela and found her furiously angry.

"I know where you were," she declared hotly when he tried to tell her of the racing driver. "Everyone knows where anyone is when they're with that red-headed Angela Perkins!"

"I give you my word. . . ."

"Oh, save it. Anyway, I'm tired of this; let's get out of here."

"Certainly."

Stephen was a little angry now himself. After all, no girl had any strings on him.

"I'll drive," Pamela said shortly when they got into her car. Stephen had driven out to the club but now he took the seat beside her without a word.

* * *

Perhaps, had he attempted to defend himself, Pamela's anger would have dispelled itself in quarreling with him, but she did not know how to meet silence. Not Stephen's, at any rate. The silence of overawed servitors was a different matter.

She had a grudge of long standing against Angela Perkins—a grudge born of rivalry. She knew that Angela had attached Stephen for the purpose of annoying her and she honestly believed that Stephen had attempted to lie about it.

They drove in bitter silence for a mile or two; then suddenly she brought the car to a stop. She asked Stephen to get out and take a look at the rear wheels. She said she thought she had a flat.

"Nonsense," Stephen replied curtly.

Pamela started to open the door on her side. It was only a bluff.

As he stepped out of the car and moved to the rear, Pamela put it in gear and roared away, turning her head to call back something that Stephen made out to be a suggestion that he walk back and drive home with Angela.

Stephen swore; then grinned. "Walked! Can you beat that?"

Pamela was far down the road before he turned back toward the club. Heedless of danger, she drove on at high speed, forgetting that ahead of her lay a short stretch of road under repair.

Even when she saw the warning signal lights she did not slow in time to avoid tearing onto the rutted road with a momentum that brought disaster.

It came with the ear-splitting noise of a cannon shot, a jagged blowout that flattened a rear tire in less than a second and sent the car lurching and careening madly from side to side.

Pamela tried desperately to right it, but she knew when it came to a stop finally, directly across the roadway, that luck had favored her.

She slumped weakly, back, shaken and white. But the next instant, glancing up the road in the direction she had come, her eyes met a sight that froze her to her seat with a new fear.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

NO NOW.

There is no now, no present quite alone.
Whatever is, its past has always known.
Today I shall do well for having done
Some past thing well,
Or else, my son,
Do something poorly
Because some yesterday I slipped and fell,
I walked less surely.

There is no now, no present now and all.
Tomorrow I shall rise or I shall fall
Because today I either fell or rose,
Made foes or friends.
No path man goes
Has sudden sorrow;
Upon the path I walk today depends
The path tomorrow.

There is no now, for in the now combine
The past and future of this life of mine.
The things I think so many things will touch,
The things I say
Shape life so much,
I must think straightly,
Because to every other day each day
Will matter greatly.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT

"Saturday's Children," now at the Delft, is an intimate and absorbing study of home life amongst the middle classes. It is directed by Gregory La Cava.

In the role of Bobby Halvey, the part originally created by Ruth Gordon in New York premiere at the Booth Theatre and more recently played by Mary Doran opposite Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in Los Angeles, Corrine Griffith has the part of very modern working girl, which gives the beautiful First National star another opportunity for great individuality in characterization. Grant Withers was borrowed from Warner Brothers to play opposite Miss Griffith in the role of Jim O'Neill and others prominent in the supporting cast are Albert Conti, Alma Tell, Lucien Littlefield, Charles Lane, Anne Schaeffer, and Marcia Harris.

AT THE STRAND

It is a story which everyone will appreciate; with natural human comedy and a collection of gay, new "gags".

Denny appears in the role of a young assistant district attorney who handles the cases in the speeders court. Every person who ever rode in an auto or who was ever menaced by a motorcycle cop; or wants to own a car, will appreciate the splendid comedy of this.

A newspaper editor launches and antispeeding campaign and his daughter is tagged. She gives a fake name. Denny denounces her recklessness in court so the judge places her in custody. Then he learns who she is and she pleads with him not to tell her father, for fear he will send her back to boarding school. That's where the fun begins.

Alice Day plays the daughter. Thomas Rickets enacts the role of the editor and De Witt Jennings plays the judge of the speeders court. Fritzi Ridgeway plays the role of the girl who impersonates the parole speeder to help the others out of a difficulty only to get them into worse trouble.

Joseph Henabery directed it.

HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

No doubt the first vegetarians developed from animal worship. It is said that the Jewish orthodox group do not eat pork because an original worship of the procine species which merged gradually into a sanitary law.

The Hindu has an especial reverence for the cow. Americans seldom eat horse meat knowingly, whereas many foreign peoples consume it regularly. Some Philippine tribes delight in the flesh strange conglomeration of religasserted that cat may be sold for rabbit.

In the superstitions regarding the eating of meat there is a strange conglomeration of religious belief, pseudo-science, emotion, and ignorance.

About 1892, as is pointed out by Dr. Logan Clendening in a special consideration of the subject in "The American Mercury," Dr. Alexander Haig announced the doctrine that uric acid is a factor in the causing of many diseases, notably Bright's disease, gout, high blood pressure and rheumatism, and that uric acid arises in profuse amounts from the eating of meat.

The notion had enormous vogue although the evidence to support it has, for the most part, been thoroughly invalidated.

The actual facts are that uric acid is always found in the blood in some amount and that it is increased during the eating of considerable quantities of meat. On the other hand, it cannot be proved that uric acid causes any of the diseases that have been mentioned, and there is plenty of good evidence that people who live on meat and little if anything else, not infrequently do surprisingly well so far as their health is concerned.

Vegetarians insist that meat is not man's natural food, that the apes live largely on fruits and nuts, and that meat eating makes one malicious. Savages of cannibalistic tribes ate the hearts and the sex glands of their victims, in order that they might thus acquire the enemy's strength.

The mere fact that many animals subsist largely on vegetables has nothing to do with what man eats. The intestinal tract of man has been adapted through centuries of development into a different type of organ than is possessed by the horse, the elephant, or the jackass. The secretions of the intestinal tract of man are well adapted to a mixed diet.

Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, has lived for months on a meat diet, without serious injury to his system, indeed, without determinable alterations. The best diet for man in general is one that contains suitable quantities of protein, carbohydrate, fat, mineral salts, and vitamins derived from meat, vegetables, milk, fruits, sweets, and all of the wares so temptingly displayed in food emporiums.

June probably will find a lot more young people ready for the altar, or, as some of the British quaintly pronounce it "halter."

Los Angeles recently held a floor-sweeping contest for girls. Old time affairs like that always recall pleasant memories.

Just one word more about Marion Talley—she surely ought to be able to pick up a pretty nice piece of ground now for a song.

Lots of people have been waiting eagerly for the first article by Al Smith, to see whether or not he puts that extra "d" in radio.

CLEAN CITIES DRAW TOURISTS

Preparations for Campaign in Escanaba Well Under Way

Selling itself to local citizens and strangers alike is the one great task of any municipality. To make people like their home town, to help build it up, bring business into it and keep it progressive and prosperous is the real function of city officials.

Next to home folks are the strangers who must, likewise, be impressed by both resident and stranger.

Escanaba residents who wish to make this city presentable to the tourists this summer should give energetic cooperation to the Clean Up and Paint Up campaign to be launched on May 5 under the auspices of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Already much cooperation is being given in the way of advertising the event. The I. W. Smith Poster Service has contributed the use of four large billboards on which will be placed signs relating to the Clean Up and Paint Up campaign. Banners will be placed on the street cars through the courtesy of the Escanaba Power and Traction company, and merchants will place cards bearing various slogans relating to the subject in their windows.

Letters were sent out this week by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce to business houses, industrial institutions and other citizens, asking their wholehearted support. Ministers of the gospel were asked to dwell on the topic of Clean Up and Paint Up while speaking from the pulpit next Sunday, the opening day of the drive.

Mystery Spiced by Real Entertainment In Reno's Show

Of Edward Reno, world-famed magician, it has been truthfully said "his work is the best and his showmanship and stage presence second to none." This, beyond a doubt, will be proven to the entire satisfaction of two audiences here Friday when Reno appears under the auspices of the Girls Athletic Association of the high school.

The Escanaba engagement will be the starting of Reno's farewell tour under the management of Stuart Ross, Hancock magician, after the completion of more than a half-century devoted to magic.

Should Reno's tricks be less spectacular than they are, his production still would be "put across" by his continual comment and the clever dramatization of his widely assorted problems in ledgerdemain. Appearing in ordinary evening dress, with a minimum of paraphrenalia Reno depends upon his dexterity and mastery of the art of misdirection to deceive his audiences.

Proceeds from the entertainments will be used by the members of the Girls Athletic Association to complete their summer camp fund.

Finland's cost of living is showing a marked drop.

St. Joseph's Girl Declaimer Second in U. P. Contest

Marquette—The Norway and Menominee high schools took first honors in the upper peninsula declamatory and oratorical contest, conducted here last night in the Graveraet high school auditorium. Earl Wickstrom, of Norway, with the declamation, "Visions of War," won first place in this event and Katherine Kasmanek, of Menominee, took first honors in oratory with her speech, "Internationalism and World Peace."

Other contestants were:

Declamatory—Freeman Morrison, of L'Anse, "A Plea for Cuba," second; Mildred Meyer, of St. Joseph's, Escanaba, "Responsibility of Ward," third; Ruth Clark, Marquette, "A Plea for Cuba," and Bartlund Eldred, Crystal Falls, "The New South."

Oratory—Arthur Doolittle, Negaunee, "The Rulers of Tomorrow," second; Katherine Kunert, Newberry, "America's Unfinished Task," third; Lucille Larson, Amasa, "Abraham Lincoln," and Henry Steecher, Hancock, "The Dream of Nations."

Gunther C. Meyland and Dr. James Cloyd Bowman, of the Northern State Teachers college, and W. F. Morton, of Stephenson's Institute, Marinette, were the judges. The high school boys' glee club, a trumpet duet composed of Genevieve Syverson and Jack Rough, and E. J. Hickey furnished several musical selections.

The first place winners will represent the upper peninsula in the state meet which will probably be held in Lansing the last Friday in May. The contestants last night were the winners of the district contests in the peninsula.

Detroit Outdoor Show Was Success

Clark L. Heckathorn, Munising, is home from the first Detroit Outdoor Life and Motor Boat show, where he had charge of the upper peninsula booth for the week ending April 27.

"It was a good show," said Mr. Heckathorn, "and the interest displayed in the upper peninsula was very gratifying. This part of the state has been a closed book to many Detroit people, judging from the many uninformed people who visited the booth and asked a million questions. I feel that our exhibit did much to enlighten the residents of Detroit and vicinity about what we have up here in summer attractions. We distributed 30,000 pieces of tourist literature that was truly representative of the entire district, and could have used much more."

Sheep Train Tour Schedule Outlined

Plans are going ahead rapidly for the demonstration sheep train which will be run over five upper peninsula railroads May 27 to June 19. Arrangements are in the hands of a central committee.

While exact dates have not been set by railroad officials, the first few days' schedule will probably be as follows:

May 27—Morning, Seney; afternoon, McMillan; evening, Newberry.

May 28—Morning, Moran; afternoon, Brimley.

May 29—Morning, Sault Ste. Marie; afternoon, Dafter; evening, Rudyard.

May 30—Morning, Engadine; afternoon, Whitedale; evening, Manistique.

May 31—Morning, Cooks; afternoon, Rapid River; evening, Trenary.

June 1—Morning, Chatham; afternoon, Skandia.

Balance of schedule will be announced later in The Development Bureau News and in upper peninsula dailies and weeklies.

4-H Club Leaders Will Be Rewarded

C. A. Rood, upper peninsula assistant state boys and girls club leader for Michigan State college, has announced that some fine prizes are being offered for outstanding leadership in rural boys and girls club work this year.

The Upper Peninsula Development bureau offers $35 to each county in the district that will invest a like sum for prize other than cash to be given the outstanding club leader in that county.

The award may take the form of an all-expense-paid trip to the National Dairy show at St. Louis, or the International Club congress at Chicago. Houghton, Iron, Gogobic, Luce, Delta, Menominee, Marquette, Dickinson and Chippewa have announced their intention of meeting the bureau's offer.

Record Attendance at Play Presented by St. Patrick Boys

Attendance records for an indoor entertainment were broken this week at St. Patrick's parish hall when three performances were given of the home talent play directed by Rev. Fr. Raymond Bergeron. "The Seal of Confession" presented by the young men and boys of the dramatic club of the parish drew large audiences at the Sunday matinee and two evening performances Tuesday and Wednesday.

All the parts were played by boys whose amateur work in home talent entertainments have been recognized by local audiences who have attended their shows.

Every one in the cast is deserving of credit for the manner in which their parts were played and Father Bergeron who directed the boys in the cast is untiring in his work among the young people of the parish.

Financially, the play was a huge success, and the large number of tickets sold is very gratifying to the committee in charge.

The proceeds will be used to pay for a new stage drop curtain and stage settings recently installed.

To Take School Census in County

Materials for the taking of the school census have been sent out to the various township school board secretaries by C. U. Woolpert, county school commissioner.

The census taking is scheduled to be completed by May 30.

New York now has a population estimated at 6,000,000, but the greater urban district of which it forms a part, including large cities across the Hudson, etc., contains nearly 9,500,000 persons.

COOKS

The Women's Social Club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. J. Griffin. The next meeting of this organization, to be held at the home of Mrs. Herbert Gray on the coming Thursday, will be the last one of the season. The club has filled a much needed place in the social life of the community and some very pleasand evenings have been spent.

A large nnmber of Cooks people went out Sunday and picked bunches of arbutus and other wild flowers which are very plentiful this spring.

Lloyd Carley and brother, Fred, made a business trip to Escanaba Saturday.

The regular meeting of the Willing Workers' society will be held at the home of Mrs. William Winkle Thursday afternoon.

Clarence Jaynes is employed at the Cloverland Garage at Manistique.

Edward VonBoroskey of Garden was a caller here Sunday.

A birthday party was held at the home of Mrs. William Winkle Saturday night in honor of Mrs. Winkle. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Chester Winter, William Turpin and daughter, Ruth, Mrs. Lela McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. William LaBelle and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Winkle all of Manistique, Mr. and Mrs. William Winter, Jr., and son Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lester and children, Mr. and Mrs. William Winter, Sr., Mrs. Ossie Hazen, Mrs. Elmer Winter, Fred Winter and Ernest Lamkey of Garden. The evening was spent in a quiet but pleasant manner with lunch before the adjournment.

William Aldous of Garden called on friends in Cooks Sunday.

Mrs. Albert Demers, Mrs. Ernest Demers, the Missess Marie and Madeline Popour spent Saturday evening with their sister, Emily, in town.

Roy Walter returned Sunday from a week-end visit with relatives and friends at the Soo.

Mrs. Mitchell Fulsher has returned from Lower Michigan where she has been assisting her husband in his work during the winter months. She is uncertain as to how long she will remain here.

Chicago and North Western Loads 37 Boats With 314,044 Tons

The opening month of the 1929 navigation season was a busy one for the Chicago and North Western docks here, which loaded 37 boats with 314,044 tons of iron ore since April 12.

This is a large increase over the volume of shipments for April last year. Only 38,128 tons were received at the North Western docks in April, 1928, as compared to 457,403 tons during the past month. In 1928, only 5046 tons were taken by boats as compared to 314,044 tons for that period this season. The balance on hand yesterday was 143,359 tons. The 1928 season, however, did not begin until the latter part of the montht.

According to information received from various reliable sources, the prospects for a busy ore shipping season are decidedly bright, according to Superintendent F. R. Lloyd, who ventured the prediction yesterday that the North Western docks would handle about five million tons.

The docks were the scene of much activity on Friday, April 26, when ten boats were received during the day.

As yet, there is not much activity at the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railway docks. Only nine boats have been loaded, and the total shipped is 65,000 tons. Shipping is expected to pick up this month, however. The Milwaukee dock season did not open until April 16.

Births Gain On French War Deaths

Paris (AP)—It will take France 20 or 25 years to make up the loss in native born population sustained through war casualties.

Last year there were slight increases in marriages and births but the excess of births over deaths was only 70,000. The war death list was 1,500,000.

WHEN A CHILD IS FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

Aviation Offers Great Opportunities-Babson

Babson Park, Massachusetts, May 3, 1929.—"The rapid growth of aviation opens wonderful opportunities for all classes of people. In the brief span of three years commercial aviation in the United States has advanced from the realm of experiment to the status of an established industry. Today there are only seven states in the Union not traversed by one or another of the regular commercial air routes. A year from now every state will not only be covered by an air route, but will have air terminal facilities just as it now has railroad facilities. In 1928 the 60 recognized airplane manufacturing companies turned out 5,000 planes. 1929 should see at least double that number produced. In the three year period from 1925 to 1928 the number of miles flown on regular schedules by regular air routes advanced from 2,521,000 to 10,472,000. The amount of air mail carried advanced from 423,000 pounds to 3,632,000 pounds. Obviously, commercial aviation is here to stay and grow.

"What opportunities does this new industry offer to business men, labor and investors? No one can foresee at this early date the full possibilities of this great industry, but certain opportunities and advantages appear to be plainly offered:

"1. In the speeding up of business transactions.

"2. In the actual manufacture of airplanes and motors.

"3. In the development of airplane accessory business.

"4. In the establishment of air service stations.

"5. In the growth of rural and suburban real estate values.

"6. In the aircraft export trade.

"7. Through the proper selection and holding of aviation securities.

Greater Speed Should Help General Business

"Both through the transportation of business men to conferences at distant points in minimum time, and through more rapid clearance of business mail, checks and drafts by means of the air mail, the whole business mechanism is sure to be speeded up. Sales will be more quickly consummated. Every important project in business is normally preceded by conferences of the executives before it can be launched. Speed in getting widely scattered executives together should be a factor in increasing the total volume of business in a given period of time.

Airplane Manufacture Offers Great Profit

"Probably the greatest profit for the immediate future should be in connection with the manufacture and sale of planes. Although many of the recently formed companies will pass out of the picture, yet those surviving should become good earners. Demand for airplanes is due to increase rapidly and the companies which get the most business should make a large amount of money. Of course, we must remember that of some 750 distinctly separate autmoobile manufacturing companies less than 50 of them made any money. For this reason, I expect the larger airplane producing concerns who are already well established to be the most successful in the future, although some of the smaller ones will come through successfully. As the industry grows labor will find increasing opportunities for employment. This is particularly fortunate inasmuch as many mechanics and other workmen are being displaced by the labor-saving machinery which is constantly being installed in other industries.

Airplane Accessory Business Has Opportunities

"Just as the huge automobile accessory business has grown up around the manufacturing of automobiles so will a very considerable accessory business grow up around the airplane industry. When we consider that the estimated sales of the automobile accessory trade in 1929 amount to $1,400,000,000 or 16 per cent of all automobiles and automotive products, we can conceive of the future that lies before a similar industry for airplanes.

Opportunities in Service Stations

"One of the largest airplane companies has been enterprising enough to establish a chain of service stations for planes. Twenty-five service stations have already been placed throughout the country and equipped to take care of engines, and to carry a complete stock of parts used in the machines, through service agencies. As air travel should boom over the next few years, the importance of well equipped service stations air-ports, and landing fields will grow accordingly. Remember that 30 per cent of the money spent in automobiles and automotive production goes for gasoline and lubricants dispensed through filling stations, 16 per cent for repair parts and supplies sold by garages and service stations, and 6 per cent for other accessories. Air service stations, therefore, should also develop into a very prosperous business.

Rural and Suburban Real Estate Values Will Be Helped

"There are no limitations on the ariplane as to its routes of travel or places where it can go. Unlike trains or steamships it can penetrate into remote sections. Vast undeveloped territories will become accessible, with a consequent enchantment of land values. Also suburban and rural towns, with well developed air-ports, have prospects of becoming populous business centers. Likewise we can vision the time when every town will be a world port. It will no longer be necessary to have location on the water front to be in transportation connection with Europe or other foreign countries. The airplane knows no such limitations, and as it develops greater carrying capacity, every town in the United States becomes a potential foreign trade port of the world.

Exports Of Planes Should Grow Rapidly

"Our automobile export trade has been hindered by the lack of good roads in many foreign countries. This limitation does not apply to the airplane. It needs no roads. Because the greatest demand for automobiles has been domestic, most people believe that the same fact will be true of airplanes. This is a mistake. China, India, and other densely populated countries, not to mention Canada, South America and Mexico, could not buy automobiles in great volume because of lack of highways. China alone could give enough business to pay large dividends to any exporting company handling American planes.

Well Selected Aviation Securities Excellent for the Long-Pull

"There are certain aviation securities today which can be bought and put away with firm assurance that they will prove most profitable over the next ten years. Investors should capitalize this new era which we are approaching. It is very possible that within the next decade all of the first-class mail and a large percentage of the passenger business will be carried by air transportation. As in every new industry, however, the utmost discrimination should be used before purchasing aviation stocks. Certain test should be applied in their selections. (1) Who are the financial sponsors for the security? Are they well-established and reliable? (2) What is the management of the company? Preference should be given to companies with the longest and most successful experience in the airplane industry itself. (3) Make sure that the capital structure is not inflated. Many companies would be good for investment purposes if they did not have such a large number of shares outstanding. They must grow in earnings compared to their present capitalization before their securities become attractive.

"Other things being equal, companies having flying fields of their own will be the best able to survive. However, the greatest profits in the next few years probably will be in the sale of planes and other aviation equipment rather than in connection with mere transportation.

"Business by the Babsonchart is now 6 per cent above normal compared with 3 per cent above a year ago."

Outdoor Life Show in Chicago Opens On Monday, May 6

The seventh annual National Outdoor Life exposition and Motor Boat show will open in the Chicago Coliseum Monday, May 6, continuing until the following Saturday night.

The upper peninsula will be represented by two fine exhibits sponsored by the Upper Peninsula Development bureau and the Gogebic County Advancement association. A very comprehensive exhibit will be staged by the Michigan department of conservation, a large part of the material for which was assembled from northern Michigan.

Upper Peninsula people in Chicago next week are invited to make their headquarters at the above booths, which will be side by side on the so-called Michigan avenue aisle, straight ahead from the main entrance of the Coliseum.

About a quarter of a million people are expected to attend the show. Upper Peninsula tourist literature in liberal quantities will be distributed.

Good Market for Dairy Products of Good Quality

"There is a country-wide market for more high quality dairy products than are being produced at the present time," said Russell E. Horwood, dairy extension specialist in co-operation with the dairy department of Michigan State college and upper peninsula county agents.

"We have launched a new extension project in this field," said Mr. Horwood, "and we want to meet and talk with as many producers and manufacturers as possible about the idea. We believe the general system of paying for dairy products at the present time is wrong. The manufacturer has not been able to pay any more for high quality milk and cream than for poor quality. This is because he has not received enough high quality products to justify the manufacture of two grades. It is hoped and believed that this can be remedied."

The manufacturing division of the dairy department of Michigan State college has promised to send a man to the upper peninsula with Mr. Horwood on this project. It will be handled from the production end.

Dairy Farmers to Tour Wisconsin

Upper Peninsula dairymen will, it is expected, shortly engage in a combined tour of some of the best dairying districts of Wisconsin. This will be the third affair of the kind, and it will cover a period of three or four days in the early part of June, being conducted under the auspices of Michigan State college extension department, in connection with prominent Wisconsin agriculturalists.

Earl Roberts, agricultural agent of Iron county, and Russell E. Horwood, dairy extension specialist, will attend the district county agent conference in Wisconsin Rapids May 3, where plans for the tour will be completed.

Dozens of upper peninsula farmers and dairymen accompanied the two former tours, and pronounced the trip of great educational value. This year a new section of Wisconsin will be visited, where conditions are much the same as here, except that a greater development in dairying has taken place. For this reason the territory should furnish many valuable lessons to the Michigan dairy farmers attending.

MINOTAUR WINS PIMLICO RACE

One of Longest Shots of Season Wins Rennert Handicap

New York, May 1—(AP)—Capping a day of upsets, Minotaur, 3-year-old son of Sun Briar-Irish Lady II, turned in one of the longest shot victories of the spring racing season today to win the Rennert handicap at Pimlico. Minotaur paid her backers $104.90 for each $2 mutuel ticket.

Coming from behind and closing with a rush, Minotaur won going away by three lengths from My Sis. Too High was only a nose behind My Sis in the battle for the place.

Minotaur galloped the sprint distance of six furlongs in 1:13. the race was worth $5,420 net to the winner.

Only one favorite came through in the days racing at Pimlico. Water Lad led the field to the finish wire in the sixth race to pay $66.50 to win, while other outsiders paid their backers sums amounting from $10 to $30 for each $2 ticket.

J. L. Holland's Ramoneur, ridden by La Verne Fator, romped away with the fleet handicap, a six-furlong sprint, at Jamaica. For several minutes after the race there was some doubt if Ramoneur had won, as it appeared that Fator shut off cheers at the far turn. The place went to Ironsides by a nose from Dolan.

Robertsoin Wins

Today's racing at the New York track marked the first victory of the season on the metropolitan turf for A. Robertson, the little jockey who carried off riders' honors at Bowie and Havre de Grace. Robertson was up on Snooze, the winner of the fifth race.

Lucille, carrying the colors of Stone and Rucker, was victorious over a field of four starters in the Hinata stakes, a 4½ furlong sprint for two-year-old fillies at Lexington. The place was won by Thistle Ann, which was an easy second, eight lengths in front of Princess Margaret, which finished third. Lucille was an odds on favorite and paid only $2.62 for a $2 mutuel ticket.

SUDDEN DEATH CALLS LOCAL MAN TUESDAY

Stricken suddenly at his home, 239 S. Maple avenue, Manistique, William Martin was summoned by death shortly before 9 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Mr. Martin appeared to be in his usual health Tuesday, attending to trade at his shoe shop, 212 Oak street, and was seen about the streets by friends at various times throughout the day. Death came as he was sitting in his chair preparing to retire for the night. The cause was a heart attack.

Mr. Martin has been a resident of Manistique for a good many years, and for a number of years has been the proprietor of the shoe repair and sales shop on Oak street. He leaves a wife, Anna, and one son, Einar, who has been attending Ferris Institute, Big Rapids. The latter was expected to arrive in Manistique last night.

ANGLERS BACK PLAN TO MARK TROUT CREEKS

Sportsmen of Manistique are back of a movement to provide better identification for trout streams unnamed, and some that are not easily recognized by anglers, causing confusion as to which are open and which are closed to fishing.

It is proposed to name all creeks which have not been given a name as yet, and to have signs provided for posting at points along these fishing spots. These signs would carry the name of the stream and data on whether or not it is open to fishing. It is planned to place the matter before the board of supervisors with a suggestion that such markings be provided.

Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Cookson motored to Escanaba Wednesday on business.

INLAND OWNED FLEET OPENED LAKES SEASON

Boats to Play Part in Development of Local Lime Areas.

It's rather bewildering for a small-town reporter to follow up the various phases of the new limestone development which now has its hub in Schoolcraft county, for each interview and investigation unfolds some new features, and the project becomes of greater dimensions than most folks ever suspected.

Take for instance the method of mining the rock. When finally in operation the area taken over by the Inland Company will remind one of a large mining district, not like a mine with one shaft house, with a few cars of ore going out now and then, but more like the large open pit mines such as the Palmer mine at Marquette and the Wakefield mine at Wakefield.

Boats First on Lakes

Long trains of cars will be going through the open pit continually, taking trainloads of rock to the crushers, to be loaded on boats owned and operated by the Inland company. Their huge fleet of ore and limestone self dump vessels have the record for opening navigation this year both at Duluth and Escanaba, being the first vessels of the season to take on cargoes at those ports, and the capacities of their boats number them among the largest carriers on the Great Lakes.

The Inland steel main plant, which is at Indiana Harbor, south of Chicago, is a city in itself, and self contained. Here are located the 30 or 40 open hearth furnaces and a dozen or so blast furnaces which are filled with limestone from Schoolcraft county.

It is understood that the pit now being operated by Calspar, which has been in use for a number of years, will continue to produce under the new regime. In addition, there will be the dolomite formation, a different type of stone, which it is indicated will come under an entirely separate operation.

Supervisor Surprised

A Schoolcraft county supervisor recently made his first trip into Calspar to inspect the operations there, and he came back declaring that he had the surprise of his life. He hadn't realized the scope of this industry which has been quietly developing here in recent years. A visit to this plant is sure to prove enlightening to any local residents who haven't yet taken the trouble to drive two miles off US 2 to where the properties are located.

In the busy season one hundred and fifty men are employed at Calspar, and the plant is modern and up-to-date in every respect. From fifteen to twenty car loads of stone and lime are turned over to the Soo Line every day of the year, and this is perhaps more cars than are turned out in the entire city of Manistique per day. Of course this is a crude material and does not compare in value with lumber, alcohol, charcoal, etc., as turned out by other local manufacturers, but nevertheless, the plant gives employment to a large number of men, and that is recognized as one of the prime needs of Schoolcraft county. With employment assured for the men living in the community there are prospects of real economic stability through the organization of the new company and the marketing of a natural product which has lain immobile for ages.

"AVALANCHE" AT GERO

The hardships suffered by the pioneers in the days pictured in Zane Grey's newest Paramount screen drama, "Avalanche," were no greater than those of real life experienced by Baclanova, the Russian actress who appears with Jack Holt in one of the principal roles of this production.

Baclanova was one of the featured players in the Moscow Art theatre before and during the war. When Bolshevists took over the government reins, Baclanova found her status changed in many ways. She continued to play with the theater but her salary consisted not of money but of an apartment in which to live, and food and drink.

A pair of shoes and a gown or two might be the salary for one week, food rations might represent her salary the next.

She came to the United States in 1925 in Morris Gest's offering, "Carmencita and the Soldier."

Baclanova's introduction into Paramount pictures was made through Emil Jannings' "The Street of Sin." As soon as this production was completed, she was signed to a long term contract. She has appeared in Pola Negri's "Three Sinners," George Bancroft's "The Docks of New York" and "Forgotten Faces."

Her role in "Avalanche," which has been booked for showing at the Gero theatre, is that of a dance hall girl in a Western town. The Arizona location marked the actress' first closeup of Indians and the real West.

Common Colds May Result In Prolonged Ill Health

Complete recovery from any disease that causes thinning of the blood is not accomplished until the vital fluid is made rich and red

Colds, bronchitis and pneumonia cause a thinning of the blood. Even when the acute attack has passed your health is not fully restored until the damage done to the blood has been repaired. Tonic treatment, directed to making the blood rich and red, quickly shows results in the improved color, the renewed vitality, ambition and vigor, the more elastic step and the brighter outlook on life. If you have had a cold during the months past the following statement will interest you.

"Following a long siege of bronchitis," says Miss Genevieve Hugo, a nurse who lives at 1825 Second Street, Bay City, Michigan, "I was without strength or ambition and my color was poor. I felt chilly all the time and it seemed impossible for me to get warm. I had but little appetite and suffered from shortness of breath and dizzy spells. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me and I tried them. I felt some relief in a week and was so encouraged that I kept on with the treatment. My strength has returned and my blood is so much richer that I have a good color and no longer feel chilly. I owe my health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, sixty cents per box, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for a copy of the booklet, "Building Up the Blood." It is free.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, May 1—(AP)—Bulls began the new month today with such an outburst of activity as the stock market has not experienced since March, but handicapped by continued uncertainty over credit, were unable to move prices substantially higher save in spots.

Total sales of 4,688,900, were the largest in about five weeks, and more than a score of issues were sent up from 3 to nearly 20 points, but there was a rush to take profits which cancelled many gains and depressed much of the list. The Associated Press index of 50 leading industrials recorded a gain of less than a point for the day.

News Favorable

The resumption of large scale operations for the advance were predicted upon the passing of the month-end money pinch, and favorable industrial news, but bankers were unable to foresee any prospect of really easy money in the near future. Call money renewed at 11 per cent, against 14 yesterday, but got no lower than 10 per cent, the closing rate of Tuesday.

The New York federal reserve bank, in its monthly bulletin, issued today, indicates there has been little improvement in the credit situation since the call money crisis of late March. It points out that the reduction in brokers' loans has been in part offset by loans on securities at the banks.

"There has been some demand reduction since March 20 in the total demand for credit though not sufficient to release any considerable amount of funds," the bulletin states. Pointing to the borrowings of the New York City banks as a barometer, it says, "in order to keep their reserves in balance the city banks continued to find it necessary to borrow about 30 per cent of their total reserves."

Steel Prospects Bright

The weekly steel trade reviews were aagin unusually cheerful, Iron Age stating that despite record shipments the inflow business shows little reduction and promises a high rate of activity for the rest of the second quarter, adding "indications of seasonal curtailment are still almost entirely lacking." Several motor companies reported new peak shipments for April. Freight car loading for the second week of April were announced as crossing the 1,000,000 mark for the first time this year.

In the commodity markets, cotton gained about $1 a bale on favorable weather reports. Wheat sagged on larger than expected May deliveries, but regained most of its loss.

New York, May 1—(AP)—Another slight increase in bituminous coal production in the week ended April 27 is noted by the National Coal asosciation. Output for that week was about 9,000,000 net tons, compared with 8,648,000 net tons in the previous week.

New building and engineering work contracted for in states east of the Rocky Mountains in the week ended April 26 is valued at $136,670,000 by F. W. Dodge corporation. This is an increase of almost $19,000,000 over the preceding week, but about $20,000,000 under the total for a year ago.

The Porto Rican American Tobacco company has notified the New York Stock Exchange of a proposed increase in the authorized common "B" no par shares to 300,000, double the present number.

Commercial failures in the United States, as compiled by R. G. Dun & Co., numbered 2,021 last month, an increase of 1 3-4 per cent from the March figure. The liabilities, amounting to $35,269,702, represented a decline of about three per cent. In April, 1928, insolvencies totaled 1,818, involving liabilities of $37,985,145. Not since 1922 has the number of defaults reached the 2,000 mark in April, but last month's indebtedness was the smallest for the period since 1920.

Wall Street is inclined to interpret election of Clarence M. Wooley, chairman of American Radiator company, to the Johns-Manville board, as a step toward absorption of the latter company by American Radiator & Standard Sanitary corporation. Early in April, Francis D. Bartow, of J. P. Morgan & Co., and Jackson E. Reynolds, president of the First National bank of New York, were elected to the American Radiator board, and it is pointed out that the Morgan firm has been closely identified with the development of Johns-Manville for some time.

Atlas Portland Cement stockholders have approved a plan to increase the authorized no par common to 1,500,000 shares from 1,000,000, and have permitted the directors to issue the additional stock at their discretion. It also was voted to reduce the authorized preferred to $26,300 from $2,500,000 by cancelling shares which have been surrendered for exchange for common or cash.

Several automobile manufacturers report second shipments for April.

Total bond sales (par value) $8,594,000.

New York, May 1— (AP) — A bullish flourish in stocks today brought issues with conversion or stock subscription features to the forefront in the bond market today. Thrust aside in the scramble for semi-speculative favorites, purely investment issues were dull, with prices showing little change.

Some month-end re-investment of dividend and interest disbursements helped the general list but lagging sales indicated a falling off of the recent investment demand which accompanied the April recovery of bonds. This was attributed partly to the higher price levels and the reviving bull movement in stocks.

Trading in the convertibles started at a fast pace but tapered off in the afternoon. American I. G. Chemical 5½s, in point of sales as well as gains, still led the convertibles group, finishing at a high of 102½, a rise of 3½ points for the day adn more than 7 points above the subscription price last Friday. The linking of American capital with German chemical enterprise represented by this issue and its strong sponsorship have proved a strong attraction to investors and speculators.

The biggest bond issue since the war—the $225,000,000 of American Telephone Convertible 4½s authorized by stockholders yesterday—was admitted to dealings on the stock exchange this morning on a when issued basis and opened at 141, compared with the offering to stockholders at par. Trading started off briskly, prices advanced a point but fell back to 136½ and closed only a fraction above that price as the stock turned downward.

Between them, the new chemical and telephone issues contributed nearly one-eighth of the days sales which totaled a little less than $8,600,000. They are expected to bulk large in the trading for some time to come.

The rails were uneven.

Industrials as a group were easy, oils particularly tending a shade lower. United States government obligations firmed on the easier credit outlook.

CHICAGO POTATOES

Chicago, May 1—Potatoes, receipts 121 cars, on track 77 new, 322 old; total United States shipments 873 cars; new stock trading good, market firm; Texas sacked bliss triumphs, No. 1, $4.75 at $5.00 old stock, trading fair, russets easier, other stock about steady; Wisconsin sacked round whites, 65c at 90c; few, $1.00; Minnesota and North Dakota sacked round whites, 65c at 85c; sacked Red river Ohios, 60c at 65c; Idaho sacked russets, $2.00 at $2.35; few shade higher.

NEW YORK TEXTILES

New York, May 1—Cloth markets opened quiet today and with no chance in price from yesterday's quotations. Light trading was in scattered small lots of both coarse and fine goods. Burlap cables advanced 4 to 6 pence on goods forwarded to September and 2 to 3d for last quarter shipments. Spot and futures markets were quiet. Scarcity of supplies is bolstering raw silk levels in spite of a 20-yen a bale drop in Yokohama during the last two days.

Bulls Take Hand In Curb Market; Long List Jumps

New York, May 1—(AP)—Speculative sentiment had a distinctly bullish tinge in today's curb market, which closed with a long list of issues up 1 to 15 points above yesterday's final quotations. Easing credit conditions, optimistic earnings forecasts and current statements, merger and dividend rumors were all factors in the day's buying movement, which sent about a score issues to new high levels.

Aviation shares again took a prominent part in the day's proceedings. Bendix Aviation was admitted to trading, opening at 83 7-8 and easing to 82. The old Bendix corporation stock touched another new high record at 163 7-8 and then fell back a few points on realizing.

Guardian Fire Insurance company, a large interest in which has been acquired by a new financial group, crossed 66 for an extreme gain of more than 4 points. The annual statement, issued after the close, showed earnings of more than $10 a share last year.

An extreme gain of nearly 15 points in Northern States Power A, which crossed 174 to a new high record and then lost about a third of its gain, was the outstanding feature in the public utility group.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, May 1—More than 16,000,000 bushels of grain were delivered on Chicago board of trade May contracts today without causing any material disturbance of prices.

The total, which was much larger than in general had been looked for, is a record seldom equaled except in wartime. Chicago May deliveries of wheat alone today aggregated 9,324,000 bushels as against May deliveries of 2,298,000 bushels today at Liverpool.

Closing quotations on wheat here were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 3-4c off, with the downturn owing chiefly to unofficial crop estimates tomorrow expected to prove bearish. Corn closed 1-8 to 5-8c up, oats at ¼c decline to 2c advance, and provisions varying from 15c setback to a rise of 40c.

Corn developed a fairly strong tone in the face of big deliveries today of 5,588,000 bushels on May contracts here. Wet weather hampering field work was largely responsible for corn price upturns.

Provisions were active and averaged higher. Holders of May lard became sellers and bought July and September, whereas warehouse interests did the reverse.

SCORE 10 RUNS IN DIZZY SIXTH

Mackmen Garner 29 Hits Off Four Boston Hurlers

Boston, May 1—(AP)—The Athletics staged a mad May day party at the expense of the Red Sox here today. The Macks made a total of 29 hits, good for 44 bases, and won by the dizzy score of 24 to 6. They knocked Milton Gaston out of the box in the second inning, after having made a total of 8 runs.

In the sixth the Macks scored 10 times at the expense of Ed Durham and Billy Bayne, who relieved him in mid-inning. The drive consisted of 7 singles, a double by Dykes, a homer by Simmons, his fifth hit, two passes and a hit batsman. Simmons also got one of the sixth inning singles and Foxx and Miller got two.

The two final Athletic drives were launched against Ed Carroll, who was assaulted for two runs in the eighth and three more in the ninth. Jimmy Foxx also got five hits, including two homers, and Hale collected four. Simmons missed a chance to tie the modern major league record of six hits by gazing at a third strike as it floated past him in the eighth.

Bob Grove held the Red Sox all but helpless through five innings, but Connie Mack substituted him at bat while the sixth inning orgy was in progress. Ossie Orwoll got himself into trouble, and Bill Shores had to finish the game.

The Red Sox used 21 men in the game. The victory gave the Athletics an edge of two to one in the series, with the fourth game to be played tomorrow.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, May 1—(AP)—In the international whirl of sports, the American homebred talent has made anything but an impressive start in the 1929 campaign.

Major H. O. D. Segrave came over to our own shores to win back the world's automobile speed record for England, where tragedy overtook the main American attempt to keep this mark at home.

The American professional golfers absorbed a clean-cut beating in the Ryder cup matches with the British and now face an aroused golfing lion in the open championship at Muirfield.

Meanwhile, the odds appear against prospect of victory for Miss Glenna Collett, the American women's golf champion, in the forth-coming British tournament, or for the Davis cup tennis team that Uncle Sam hopes to dispatch later to France. In both cases the defending forces are unusually powerful, with Miss Joyce Wethered back in top form on the links and the French suffering from no lack of tennis genius.

AUTO RACING

The speedway racing crown, represented by the classic Indianapolis 500-mile race on May 30, also seems in danger of slipping into foreign hands, for Louis Chiron of France, the acknowledged speedway champion of Europe, is among the foremost contenders of the Memorial day grind.

Chiron won the Italian Grand Prix at Monza at an average pace of 100 miles an hour for the 400-mile race. This event, in the opinion of Tommy Milton, who has competed in both, is not as difficult a test as the Indianapolis race but Tommy admits that if Chiron can maintain a 100-mile-an-hour gait here, he will be hard to beat. The Frenchman will drive a De Lage.

The record at Indianapolis is 101.13 miles an hour, made in 1925 by Peter De Paolo in a Duesenberg.

Since the first 500-mile race in 1911, foreign challengers have come close to gaining an even break against the home bred driving talent. Jules Goux in a French Peugeot was the first invader to win in 1913, beginning a succession of foreign triumphs that was not broken until Howard Wilcox, of Indiana, won in 1919, although he drove a French Peugeot. In 1920 Gaston Chevrolet a transplanted Frenchman, won in an American car built by his brother, Louis Chevrolet.

St. Louis, May 1—(AP)—A two-run rally in the ninth by Pittsburgh forced the Cardinals and the Pirates to a 13-inning 4 to 4 tie here today. Issue Ultimatum To Horse Owners At Aurora Track

Aurora, Ill., May 1—(AP)—Striking horse owners, who have caused at least a two-day postponement of the annual spring turf meeting at the Aurora track, today were ordered to race or get off the track.

The ultimatum was issued by Clifford R. Trimble, general manager of the track, who warned that no further concessions would be granted the strikers and that thoroughbreds from other points would be invited to compete, beginning Friday.

Meanwhile, the strikers stuck to their demands that the track boost the minimum purses from $800 to $1,000 and that the track deduct one per cent from all first moneys in all events and turn that sum over to their organization, the Thoroughbred Horse association. Some wavering was noticed in the strikers' ranks today, but generally they clung to their demands.

Timble said he had been advised 200 horses, now laying up at Omaha, were ready to be shipped to Aurora as soon as stable room was guaranteed.

Britain will have no army maneuvers this year.

The Daily Press learn that Fayette fishermen had found an unoccupied boat that had been washed ashore, but could obtain no information as to the identity of the boys reported to be missing. Inquiry was made by telephone to the Bay de Noquet Lumber company office in Nahma but none there had heard of the incident.

MOTHERS KNOW ITS WORTH

MRS. IRA ARNOLD
Box 63, Rocklake, N. Dak.

"I was all run-down and out of spirits before my third baby was born so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me with all my troubles and gave me an appetite where before I didn't eat at all. I did all of my housework up to the day my baby came, as I am a farmer's wife and could not afford help. I feel just dandy now and I will answer any letters and I will tell every one how good this medicine is."—Mrs. Ira Arnold.

MRS. MAUD MEYERS
460 E. 13th Street, Dubuque, Iowa

"I read an ad. in the newspaper and I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I will recommend this medicine to any woman who is in bad shape like I was. I used to get so tired after a few hours' work that I was even afraid in my own house in the daytime. I didn't care if I lived or died. I have given birth to eight boys and I always feel strong right after, since I have taken the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Maud Meyers.

Mrs. Amelia Rowan

18th. ST. MATRON GIVES STRONG STATEMENT

Suffered From One of Worst Cases of Constipation On Record. Dreco Brought Relief.

The following statement about Dreco was given at The Fair Store and proves that this new medicine is effective in even the most severe cases. It is from Mrs. Amelia Rowan, 404 South 18th. St., this city, and she says:

"For 15 years I have been so constipated that enemas were necessary to move my bowels, sometimes as many as four in one day being required to induce action. Due to this ailment I had lumps on the lower intestine, and my stomach, liver and in fact my entire system became rundown. I could evacuate my bladder only with great difficulty.

"I had to take to my bed many times and was sick abed when two of my friends got me started on the Dreco treatment.

"Three days after I started on the Dreco medicine and the Dreco laxative tablets that went with it I was out of bed and from that day to this my condition has gradually improved. My bowels are now normal requiring nothing more than the Dreco treatment to keep them so, and all of my other complaints are gradually disappearing. I feel a little stronger each day, and am once more eating heartily, and can sleep soundly the whole night through."
